Bon Meade Students Raise $5,200 in Jump Rope Event

Bon Meade students jumped rope for heart-related diseases last month.

Bon Meade students and faculty raised $5,200 for the American Heart Association surpassing their pledge goal in a recent "Jump Rope for Heart" event at the elementary school last month.

The student council-sponsored event, led by fifth-grade teacher Jeanne Schreiber, raised awareness about cardiovascular health conditions including heart disease and stroke and also gave staff and students a break from the classroom to jump rope to lively music.

"Jump Rope for Heart" 2009 surpassed last year's contributions and topped the student council $5,000 pledge goal. In recognition of the school's support, each student in the classroom with the highest participation rate received a free Subway sandwich.
