232 Students Showcase Science in Bon Meade Event

Second-grade students in Roseanne DeLatte's class observe life of ants on a farm during Bon Meade's annual Science Fair.

Bon Meade Elementary School students created 232 projects for this year's annual Science Fair held last week on Feb. 26 and 27.

Students in grades two through five produced large display boards with hands-on accompaniments that dealt with weather phenomena like tornadoes and volcanoes, while other projects detailed archeological digs and solar systems. The range of scientific theories on display was vast and thoroughly educational to all visitors.

In addition to the visual projects, 15 fifth-graders also gave oral presentations about their displays to a panel of district educators and administrators.

Special thanks go to Brooke Covington for organizing the fair.
