MAHS Students Teach Technology to Preschoolers

Moon Area High School students became teachers today during the first Tiger Cub Computer Academy.

Business teacher Chris Reilsono's Database and Powerpoint class welcomed Roxanne Ludwig's child development students and preschoolers to learn about farm animals, shapes, bugs and colors among other topics through student-created Powerpoint educational games. The academy allowed high school students the chance to showcase technology abilities acquired throughout the school year.

Academy instructors held two sessions for P.M and A.M. preschoolers. Each preschool student wore a personalized nametag, received a certificate and took home a CD filled the academy's educational games – all carrying the student-designed academy logo.
